The Rulebreaker
by Susan Page

Barbara Walters was a force from the time TV exploded onto the American scene in the 1960s to its waning dominance in a new world of streaming services and social media half a century later. She was not just a groundbreaker for women, but expanded the big TV interview and then dominated the genre. By the end of her career, she had interviewed more of the famous and infamous, from presidents to movie stars to criminals to despots, than any other journalist in history. Then at sixty-seven, she pioneered a new form of talk TV called The View. Who was the woman behind the legacy?

This program is for adults ages 18 and up.

Next Month's Book Club Date: AUGUST 4

Please call the Thomas Branch at 219-926-7696 for availability.

Hidden Valley Road
by Robert Kolker

Don and Mimi Galvin seemed to be living the American dream. After WWII, Don's work with the Air Force brought them to Colorado, where their twelve children perfectly spanned the baby boom: the oldest born in 1945, the youngest in 1965. In those years, there was an established script for a family like the Galvins--aspiration, hard work, upward mobility, domestic harmony. But behind the scenes was a different story: psychological breakdown, sudden shocking violence, hidden abuse. By the mid-70s, six of the ten Galvin boys, one after another, were diagnosed as schizophrenic. How could all this happen to one family?

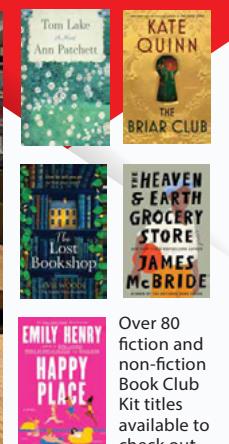

This program is for adults ages 18 and up.

MAGAZINES OF INTEREST

Acres U.S.A. (Thomas print)

Acres U.S.A. holds a unique understanding of and role in the eco-agriculture movement, introducing readers to the experts who are putting both new practices and proven methods to work in the field. Its writers are specialists, providing high-level, useful information for serious farmers. Independent of government, university, agribusiness and the agrichemical industry, Acres U.S.A. is a family-owned business, and an outspoken authority on eco-farming, unfettered from any outside interests.

Beachcombing (Thomas print)

Beachcombing is the only print magazine dedicated to sea glass, beach glass, and beachcombing. Through beautiful photography, engaging stories, and in-depth articles, each issue informs and entertains beachcombing enthusiasts, showcases coastal artisans, and shares the rich history that can be found on beaches around the world

GREAT COURSES

The Evolution of American Federalism (DVD)

In a documentary about the American Civil War, the historian Shelby Foote said that, as Americans, “our true genius is for compromise.” From 13 newly independent states ratifying a national constitution to the heated debates in the halls of Congress today, American politics is about negotiation over what our country is and where we are going. At the center of this political compromise is “federalism,” a concept referring to the balance of power between the federal and state governments. Where does state power end and federal power begin? What role should the national government play in our local lives? How do you secure a stable nation while also guarding against tyranny? Over the course of 250 years, the pendulum of federal versus state power has swung back and forth, and it continues even today with some of our most hot-button issues.
